Student Position-Collection Surveying Student Special Collections, University of Iowa Libraries

Deadline: Open until filled Position Description

The University of Iowa Libraries Special Collections seeks a student enrolled at the University of Iowa to survey and roughly inventory the archival collection of Louis Scarborough, a prominent Black animator. This person will be responsible for surveying and creating a rough inventory of the collection to prepare it for archival processing in the future.

Specific Duties & Responsibilities The student selected for this project will be responsible for removing materials from non-archival boxes and other housing formats and roughly organizing materials into like categories (photographs with photographs, correspondence with correspondence, etc.). During this time, they will also create an inventory that captures the format of materials, an idea of a box's contents, and if possible, establishing a rough timeline of the collection materials. The student will be provided training on how to handle archival materials, properly describe them, and how-to-house them into archival boxes.

GRADUATION UPDATE:

The University of Iowa is working to develop an in-person option to celebrate graduation for our students and their families. This in-person celebration will not replace the virtual commencement ceremonies, but will offer an additional option for those who want to gather in a socially distanced format to honor our graduates.

Registration for virtual commencement is now open and we encourage students to RSVP so they can be included in their collegiate ceremony. This is their opportunity to be individually recognized by their college. Each graduate will have the opportunity to submit an image to be displayed while their name is read aloud. The university will live-stream each of the spring 2021 virtual commencement ceremonies, providing an accessible way to celebrate that does not involve travel, parking, or large crowds. Please sign up here to receive updates.

Students who RSVP for virtual commencement also are welcome to participate in the in-person celebration of graduation currently being planned. Providing multiple ways to celebrate ensures students can choose the option(s) that best fit their family. We look forward to sharing additional details on the in-person celebration by March 19.
